Ginger Savely, MEd, DNP, RN, FNP-C is a certified family nurse practitioner with Bachelor's Degrees in Psychology and Nursing, Masters Degrees in Education and Nursing and a doctorate degree in nursing practice from Case Western Reserve University.

Dr. Savely has treated over 2000 patients, ages 2 to 88, with Lyme and other tick borne diseases. Her private practice, TBD Medical Associates, is located in San Francisco. Dr. Savely is considered by her colleagues to be one of the top experts in the United States on the diagnosis and treatment of Lyme disease and its related co-infections. She speaks and publishes frequently on the topic and is a referral source for practitioners around the US. Dr. Savely has been on the advisory boards of both the California and Texas Lyme Disease Associations. In 2004 she received the Texas Nurse Practitioner of the Year award in recognition of her outstanding contribution in the area of Lyme disease advocacy and education.
